What Is Tony Evans 30 Days Of Praying Gods Names?

Tony Evans 30 Days Of Praying Gods Names is a devotional guide designed to help Christians pray more effectively by focusing on the character and nature of God as revealed through His names. Each day of the thirty-day journey introduces a different name of God from the Bible, explains its meaning and context, and provides a prayer model based on that name.

The devotional is not merely a collection of prayers to recite. It is a teaching tool that helps readers understand why the names of God matter and how they can shape the way we approach the throne of grace. Evans draws from his extensive knowledge of Scripture, Hebrew language, and theology to unpack each name in a way that is both accessible and deeply meaningful.

Some of the names covered in the devotional include Jehovah Jireh (The Lord Will Provide), Jehovah Rapha (The Lord Who Heals), El Shaddai (God Almighty), and many others. Each name reveals a different facet of God's character, and praying through these names allows believers to align their requests with God's revealed nature.

The Power of Praying God's Names: A Biblical Foundation

Before diving into the specifics of the devotional, it is helpful to understand why praying God's names is so powerful. In the ancient Near Eastern world, a name was not merely a label; it represented the essence, character, and authority of the person. This is especially true in the Hebrew Scriptures, where God's names are carefully chosen to reveal who He is and what He does.

When Moses asked God for His name at the burning bush, God replied, "I AM WHO I AM" (Exodus 3:14). This name, Yahweh, became the covenant name of God for the people of Israel. Throughout the Old Testament, God revealed additional compound names that addressed specific needs and situations His people faced. These names are not random titles; they are divine revelations of God's sufficiency.

Evans builds on this biblical foundation by teaching that when we pray using God's names, we are doing more than just using religious vocabulary. We are declaring our trust in who God is and what He has promised. We are also inviting His presence and power into our circumstances in a targeted way. For example, when you pray to Jehovah Shalom (The Lord Is Peace), you are not just asking for peace; you are appealing to the God who embodies peace and who alone can give it.

By the end of the month, readers have not only learned about God's names but have also developed a habit of praying them with purpose and understanding.

Key Names of God in the Devotional

While the full devotional covers thirty distinct names, several stand out as foundational to the Christian faith. Here are a few of the key names that Tony Evans explores and how they can transform your prayer life:

Yahweh (I AM)

This is the most sacred name of God in the Old Testament. It speaks of God's self-existence, eternity, and covenant faithfulness. When you pray to Yahweh, you are addressing the God who was, who is, and who is to come. Evans emphasizes that this name reminds us that God is not dependent on anything or anyone. He simply is. Praying with this name cultivates awe and reverence.

Jehovah Jireh (The Lord Will Provide)

Derived from the story of Abraham and Isaac on Mount Moriah, this name reveals God as the One who sees our need and provides for it. Evans encourages readers to pray to Jehovah Jireh when facing financial lack, uncertainty about the future, or any situation where provision seems impossible. It builds faith that God is already at work behind the scenes.

Jehovah Rapha (The Lord Who Heals)

This name is revealed in Exodus 15:26, where God declares Himself as the healer of His people. Evans teaches that healing can be physical, emotional, relational, or spiritual. Praying to Jehovah Rapha invites God's restorative power into every broken area of life.

El Shaddai (God Almighty)

El Shaddai speaks of God's unlimited power and sufficiency. It is the name that emphasizes God's ability to do what seems impossible. When you feel weak or overwhelmed, praying to El Shaddai reminds you that His strength is made perfect in your weakness.

Jehovah Shalom (The Lord Is Peace)

In a world filled with anxiety, stress, and conflict, this name is particularly relevant. Evans explains that Jehovah Shalom is not just the giver of peace; He is peace itself. Praying this name helps you experience supernatural calm in the midst of chaos.

Adonai (Lord, Master)

This name signifies God's authority and lordship. Evans uses this name to teach about surrender and submission. Praying to Adonai is an act of yielding your will to God's will and acknowledging that He has the right to direct your life.
